The railroad is the modern pack-bearer. For every employee it carries 2,000 times as much,

Back of each railroad worker there is a $10,000 investment in tracks and trains and terminals, with steam and electricity harnessed like a great heast of burden.

Without this mighty transportation machine the railroad worker could do no more than the oldtime packer. But with it he is embled to earn the highest railroad wages paid in the world, while the country gains the lowest cost transportation in the

The modern railroad does as much work for half a cent as the pack-bearer could do for a full day's

The investment of capital in transportation and other industries increases production, spreads prosperity and advances civilization.

To enlarge our railroads so that they may keep. pace with the Nation's mercusing production, to improve them so that freight may be hauted with less and less human effort a constant stream of new capital needs to be attracted.

Under wise public regulation the growth of railroads will be stimulated, the country will be adequately and economically served, labor will receive its full above of the fruits of good manage ment, and investors will be finely rewarded.
